DESERVES THE POPULARITY WHICH HE ENJOYS Statement by Hartford Times on May-or Lippitt's Candidacy for State

There is no longer any doubt as to the candidacy of Mayor Costello Lippitt of Norwich for the republican nomination for state treasurer. Mayor Lippitt has made a formal announcement of his candidacy says the Hartford Times. His candidacy disposes of the place which New London county is to occupy on the state ticket. It will not be secretary of state, as was thought at one time. New London cannot reasonably expect to be given two places on the same state ticket. It is believed that the county will be satisfied with the nomination of Mr. Lippitt. Two years from now it is expected the office of secretary of state will go to New London county so far as it may be placed there by the republican state convention, but if things so on as they have been of the offices in the different counties may be in accordance with the nominations made by the democratic state convention. However, that is a supposition which may not be warranted even by the succession of important democratic victories on local issues which have recently occurred. The matter must be left to the political analyst. Mayor Lippitt is one of the most popular men in public life in eastern Connecticut and he deserves the popularity which he enjoys. He is making a very capable mayor of Norwich and he is looked upon in financial circles throughout the state as an able financier. He is the father of Bank Commissioner Norris Lippitt.

where he was born March 4, 1872. Five yeers later his parents moved to Taftville and at 9 he went to work in the Ponemah mills. For 15 years he was employed by Murphy and Mc-Garry in this city, and about 40 years ago he became interested in the drug business in Baltic, in which he has since and is new successfully engaged.

Mr. Fontaine is well qualified to fill the position of postmaster and his appointment would be pleasing to many friends.

Andrew McGuire, 15, John Foley, 15, Henry Barry, 19, and William Kremski. 17, were picked up at the union station in Hartford Saturday morning by Patrolman Melberger and taken to the police station. The boys said they had run away from their homes in Norwich and had no money.

Chief William F. Gunn at 9 o'clock Saturday morning telephoned to the Norwich police department that the boys had been found. Chief Murphy communicated with their parents and later Chief Gunn got word that none of the boys was wanted at home by his parents and that the parents all refused to provide transportation for their return.

Chief Gunn then applied to the charty board and obtained tickets for the two older boys to Norwich. They were taken to the railroad station by House Officer Brazel and placed in the custody of Major W. C. Steele, who put them on a home-bound train.

The two younger boys are being held at the police station and will be sent for this morning, it is expected. The Foley boy has been in the police court several times.

but no stranger would ever notice them. We kept pushing on when we began to feel that our lunch might offer us some attraction if we had a nice place to eat it. We forded the stream about the forty-second time when we discovered a roughly built bungalow which was "Camp 51." This was a most delightful place, situated right near the stream. Our escort went up and knocked on the door, but as nobody answered we decided it was a pretty good place and that we would call it our own for the time being. As we opened the door we viewed a most adorable place, roughly furnished, but the living room had a big stone fire-place in it which looked pretty good to us, as we were quite damp after fording that stream so many times.

After feeding the horses and taking our lunch off their backs, where it had been strapped, we gathered some wood for a fire. We soon had a roaring one in the fireplace and we three girls and our escort sat around it arying to get dry, which didn't take very long. We then opened our lunch and are till we could hardly see, then one of the most ambitious of us found some magazines which were there and read aloud to the other three. We sat around resting and listening and in about three hours left for home. Incidentally our escort "fessed up" to us that he knew the people who owned the bungalow, so we wrote the owner a vote of thanks and left it on the table. As I sat there I shall never forget the feeling I had, how nice it would be to take a blanket and some provisions and live out in the wilderness like that and sleep right out of doors. It was one of the lovellest trips we have had and when we arrived home at 5 p. m. we were a tired but happy party.

This is a sample of the lovely times I am having, and I only wish you could enjoy them with me.

CIGARETTE SMOKER SET FIRE TO FEATHER BED

At 9.30 o'clock Sunday evening an alarm from box 24 called the department to Roberts' Tavern in North Main street, where there was a well-kindled fire in a back bedroom on the third floor. Only the chemical was used to extinguish the fire, which did used to extinguish the fire, which did but little damage, although it destroyed a feather bed. This was thrown out of the window while after the feathers scattering in all directions, causing an effect like a snowstorm.

The tavern is now kept by James A. Alger, and from him Chief Stanton learned that the fire was caused, he thought, by a workgirl smoking cigarettes in her room. An effort had been made to extinguish the fire with what water there was in the room, but it was not sufficient to put it out. No one was injured and the damage will be slight, and in fact, the only damage by fire thus far this month. The companies made a spectacular run to the fire, making it in quick time.

On Saturday afternoon Chemical Co. No. I was called to Sunnyside for a brush fire which was getting close to some of the houses.

of the encampment attended a large class initiation of Admiral Foote camp. The annual report of Commander Charles W. Roberts was a description of the work done during the year. He recommended the discontinuance of yearly inspections of divisions and camps as entailing unnecessary expense. He also recommended the elimination of the issuing of commissions to camps of purely civilian formation. During the year 111 commissions have been issued. In addition 13 charters passed through the hands of Secretary Henry F. Gage. The new ritual has proved a success. The work of the organizer has been strongly pushed. The division of 19 camps with 659 members has grown to a division of 36 camps with 1,414 members, A note of 3250 was incurred as a result of the extensive organization done.

The report of Allen T. Pratt, treasurer and recording secretary, showed an indebtedness of about $50. There has been a net gain during the year of 17 camps. Seventy-nine members have been lost during the year and $24 members have been gained, making the total membership 1,414. The largest camp in the division is Stedman camp of Hartford, which has 209 members. The following officers were elected: Division commander, Raiph M. Grant, South Windsor; senior vice commander, J. E. McGar, Meriden; junior vice commander, F. W. Schayne, New Haven; members of camp committee, C. E. Bachelor, Ansonia, George Cox, Hartford, W. F. King, Willimantic; delegates to national convention, C. R. Hale, Hartford, W. F. Alcorn, New Haven.
